My platform boots are inspired by the pair that popstar Sabrina Carpenter has been wearing on tour. She styles these boots with either a mini skirt or a mini dress, so I styled my outfit similarly because I love the contrast of big shoes with a tiny skirt.

Naked Wolfe Spice Stretch Boots ($349.95).

Sabrina has also worn this boot style in white, however black aligns much more with my personal style.

Another inspiration for my platform boots was popstar Ariana Grande. She's often seen in very high heels, but recently she has been wearing platform heels specifically.

My bag is a “dupe” of the Bottega Veneta Mini Jodie Intrecciato Leather & Crystal Bag which retails for $8,500. I love the style of the bag, but the original is out of my price range...

My phone case is a “dupe” of the On Pointe iPhone 11 Case ($35) by WildFlower which has been sold out.

The design is inspired by the balletcore and coquettecore aesthetics.

This is popstar Madison Beer — another one of my influences — using the phone case.

Trends & Aesthetics

❖ The black leotard I am wearing in my outfit is also inspired by balletcore.

❖ I’ve always loved bows, and because of the coquette trend, there are now a lot of clothing items with this embellishment. Both my skirt and my tights embrace this bow trend.
